

Attendee List of wishes

Caring for the mind

Attendees want to know if the presentations will be (or include) a sales pitch
(DB Recovery+ Ukesad advises presenters to avoid such pitches)

Attendees want presenters who have worked in the industry and speak with clear examples and from experience

Attendees want not to regret choosing one session over another
(All DB Recovery+ Ukesad 28 presentations are plenary, in one room welcoming all delegates)

Attendees want hear the content that was promised in the agenda

Attendees want speakers who will present, not read, their presentations

If attendees want to walk out of a session, they want to not be questioned

Attendees want a variety of content, and not be in the same room in listen-only mode for over 90 minutes.

Caring for the body

Attendees want to be treated like people

Attendees want both healthy and indulgent treats

Attendees want to have protein

Attendees want bring their own water bottles (DB Recover+ Ukesad provides water, etc)

Attendees want ease of mobility: all facilities on one floor (presentation room, lunch, exhibits, refreshments, WCs, seating areas) with entrance/exit accessible via lifts and stairs.

Caring about extras

Attendees want access charging stations for devices

Attendees want useful swag in delegate bags

Attendees want spread out from their neighbours in the sessions and not sit hip-to-hip

Attendees want have their feedback used in future planning

Attendees want access surface areas during networking to set plates and drinks on to shake hands and exchange cards

Attendees want available, clean and restocked restrooms

Attendees want complimentary wifi

Attendees want reasonable temperatures in the session rooms.

DB Recovery+ Ukesad strives to grant all these wishes
